Betty Siegel is the Director of Accessibility at the Kennedy Centre for Performing Arts in Washington. The evening will be introduced by Kathy Keele, Chief Executive Officer, Australia Council for the Arts.

This event launches Betty Siegel's National Tour of Australia. Betty has over 20 years experience delivering access programs in the arts and coordinates the Leadership Exchange for Arts and Disability (LEAD) Conference each year.

In a time when audiences have never been harder to engage, it is vital that arts organisations learn to address the needs of 20 per cent of Australia's population living with disabilities and the access issues associated with an ageing population.
