STABLES THEATRE
November 21 to December 8
Wed. Thurs. Fri. Sat.

The New South Wales Theatre of the Deaf will present their first major theatre season since their formation as a full time professional company earlier this year. Their production of "DOUBLE ACT" will open at the STABLES THEATRE on Wednesday 21st November at 8.00 p.m. The company will perform each Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday through to and including 8th December.

DOUBLE ACT is a presentation of two one-act plays involving deaf and speaking artists.

A HISTORY IN SIX SIDES:

The first play is a lighthearted look at man and his love of possessions down through history.

This production has been devised for one man and a singer and is the first one-man show mounted by the company which marks a major step forward in its artistic development.

Deaf actor DAVID LONDON will play the focal part in this performance accompanied by singer BRYON JONES and musician STRUEN SMITH.

The performance includes mime, gesture and all aspects of visual theatre.

ACTIONS SPEAK LOUDER THAN WORDS:

The second half of the evening is an entertaining, original romp depicting the activities of a group of artists all striving for a part in a film without words.

Both plays have been devised and directed by IAN WATSON and will feature DAVID LONDON, COLIN ALLEN, BRYON JONES, STRUEN SMITH and MARGARET DAVIS.

Bookings can be made through the ENSEMBLE THEATRE on 929 8877.
