

It's the hum of our biology.

W | Write-ability

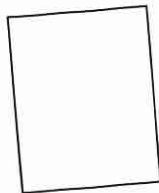

'It's the hum of our biology, our own frequency of infrequency, of things expected and not, of failure and joy and abject disappointment, a tiny reinforcement of our un-abating influence. An emotional minefield made of miniscule sound, but deafening and uncomfortably obvious if you're unlucky or easily distracted...'

Sarah Widdup

Write-ability aims to support writers with disability wishing to develop their skills and writing careers.
