This postcard was produced by a group of Community Development students at Victoria University as part of Art Matters, a project which aims to bring social awareness about the importance of art to people of all abilities. The quotes featured on this postcard are from artists with Arts Access Victoria's Way Out West program, who shared with us their thoughts and feelings on why art matters, what being able to create art means to them and how art makes the world a better place.

Thanks to Arts Access Victoria and the artists of Way Out West for their support of Art Matters
