Arts Project Australia

ANNUAL REPORT 2013

Patron's Foreword

Arts Project Australia provides the environment and support to unlock the creative power of artists. And not just any artists, these people have a unique gift, and, a disability.

Their tools are paint, clay and collage, and through that, they create a vision of their world for all to appreciate.

Arts Project Australia's social impact evaluation is featured in this year's Annual Report. It is clear that the Arts Project has a powerful positive impact for its artists, their families, art lovers, collectors and the broader community.

Our Mission

To be a centre of excellence that supports artists with intellectual disabilities, promoting their work and advocating for their inclusion within contemporary art practice.

About Arts Project Australia

Founded in 1974, Arts Project Australia was conceived as a dedicated space for visual art, to promote authentic self-expression and to provide access to professional quality materials and support from practising contemporary artists. Following years of incremental growth, Arts Project established the first full-time arts studio in Australia for artists with an intellectual disability in 1990. In the nearly four decades since its inception, Arts Project has won numerous awards and has built a reputation nationally and internationally as a leader and innovator in both the arts and disability sectors.

Arts Project advocates through its provision of a dedicated studio and gallery space where artists with an intellectual disability are treated with sincerity, their creative direction is supported and their art work is promoted on its artistic merit amongst the wider arts community.

The studio and gallery are located in Northcote. Victoria. The studio is attended by over 100 artists each week, some of whom have been coming for more than 20 years. Artists attend between one and five days a week and are supported by qualified artists to develop their own art practice. Here, art is not taught, but rather the innate creative direction of each artist is nurtured to elicit works of personal meaning and style. Media include painting, drawing, ceramics, printmaking, puppetry and digital art.

The gallery stages an annual program of exhibitions featuring work by Arts Project artists. Increasingly, there has been a trend towards collaborative projects with external artists.

Arts Project is a registered charity and non-profit organisation, which is governed by a volunteer Board and managed and staffed by a small team of qualified, experienced and committed professionals. It is an independent-organisation which is supported by the sale of art work, donations and bequests from private groups and individuals, as well as grants from government and a range of philanthropic trusts and foundations.

President's Report

As Arts Project Australia moves into its 40th year, it is with great pride that I reflect on the importance of our organisation to the lives of artists, their families, staff, volunteers and the Board. Our very existence today and long history of providing a space for artists to develop their individual art practice, is testament to the many. many people who are passionate and committed. to our place in the community and contemporary art world.

The Board was led by Jonah Jones until February 2013: Jonah has been a supporter of Arts Project. for many years and through his leadership we have experienced significant positive changes in the organisation's culture and profile in the arts. In addition, it was Jonah's vision for our 40th year that has been the catalyst for the planning activity undertakien to date.

Plans for our 40th anniversary in 2014 have continued to take shape with a range of celebratory events and exhibitions that will occur throughout. the year. We have secured a partnership with the University of Melbourne to conduct an International Outsider Art conference in October 2014. The conference program is under development with highly regarded international and Australian keynote speakers already locked in.

I would like to take the opportunity to congratulate Peter Fay, an important friend to Arts Project. Australia and long time collector of self-taught and outsider art, who was bestowed a Life Membership by the Board and our members. This is in recognition of Peter's contribution to Arts Project and his unwavering advocacy for the artist's work.

The strategic foundations set by the Board four years ago, have delivered significant outcomes for Arts Project in terms of organisational stability: diversified funding growth; an improved profile and opportunities for our artists. Earlier this year, the Board completed a major review of the organisation's Strategic Plan. In anticipation of a growing trend towards understanding the community contribution of not-for-profit organisations, the Board commissioned a Social Impact Study. The work was completed inconjunction with the Net Balance Foundation and we are very pleased to include some of the outcomes for Arts Project in this year's Annual Report. This study will both inform and confirm to our stakeholders and potential funders, the value that Arts Project Australia brings to our artists, stakeholders and broader community.

In addition to achieving mcellent audit outcomes against state and federal disability standards. a number of other significant governance activities have taken place this year. The Policy and Planning Sub-Committee completed an overhaul of the organisation's policies and procedures. to streamline and enhance the content with consideration to the Departments of Human Services and Family and Housing, Community Services and Indigenous Affairs requirements.

Following a Board review and mandatory amendments to comply with the new Incorporations Act, at a Special General Meeting members endorsed changes to the Rules of Association.

With increasing competition for funding, Arts Project Australia continues to be focused on diversifying its income streams with contributions from government, philanthropic trusts and foundations, the corporate sector and individuals. We thank the Victorian Department of Human Services, the Adult, Community and Further Education Board and the Federal Department of Family and Housing, Community Services and Indigenous Affairs for their ongoing support.

In addition, we are supported by many philanthropic organisations including the Besen Family Foundation, the Amelia Eliza Holland Trust and the William Angliss (Victoria) Charitable Trust. Our corporate partners, ARA Consultants, Leonard Joel and Leeuwin Estate, have continued to provide very generour support. On behalf of the artists, staff, management and the Board. I thank all our supporters and partners for their commitment to Arts Project Australia.

This year marks the end of my term on the Board and in the last seven years I have been fortunateto experience a period of consolidation and growth, as well as Arts Project firmly positioning itself as an artists' studio and gallery with an enviable reputation. I would like to thank past and present Board members for their support and steadfast. commitment to Arts Project Australia.

Notwithstanding all that the celebrations in 2014 will bring. Arts Project Australia is moving into an exciting period which will see it continue to deliver quality programs and nurture the development of our artists. On behalf of the Board, I would like to thank the artists for their inspiring and incredible work, and management, staff and volunteers for their contribution to our wonderful organisation.

Social Impact Study

In conjunction with the Net Balance Foundation, Arts Project Australia has recently undertaken a study to understand the social impact of our organisation. The purpose of the project was to employ outcomes-based measurement techniques to provide a richer namative of the broader social value of Arts Project. We believe that Arts Project is very good at articulating what we do and how we do it. This project has been crucial to determining the underlying reasons as to why we exist and the contribution we make to the lives of artists, families, staff, board and supporters.

Through a mix of interviews, focus groups and surveys, 41 people were involved in this project, which was managed by an Arts Project staff team with support from Net Balance. Thank you to all the people who gave their time to this project and contributed such rich and insightful stories. The key outcomes for each stakeholder group were as follows:-

Artists are the primary beneficiaries of the Arts Project studio and gallery program and being involved with Arts Project has improved their overall quality. of life. It has given them peace of mind; made them more empowered and autonomous; increased their sense of fulfilment and self-worth; encouraged personal development; provided them with social contact and friendships: and given them the opportunity for economic participation by earning money from their work.

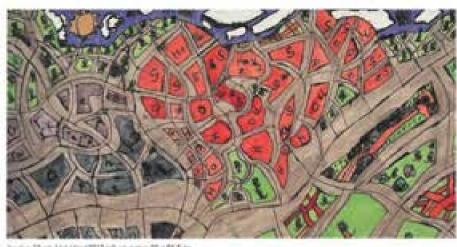

The existence of Arts Project has meant that family members experience reduced stress from caring for artists and greater peace of mind from knowing artists are in a stimulating and supportive environment. They also experience pride in the artist by sharing and celebrating their achievements in the studio and gallery.

The studio, gallery and administrative staff also experience a range of social impacts from their involvement with Arts Project, including increased fulfilment as a result of being in a role that is aligned with their interests and has meaning and purpose; developing their own art practice and professional skills; and building relationships and friendships.

The Arts Project Board reported a greater sense of vitality, purpose and fulfilment; a sense of pride and personal satisfaction; and greater awareness of issues related to disability.

Curators, collectors and collaborating artists that support Arts Project all reported that their interaction with Arts Project had provided them with greater enjoyment and meaning from art; a sense of pride and satisfaction; and greater level of empathy and patience. In addition, the collaborating artists felt they had developed their own art practice by working alongside Arts Project artists.

The outcomes of this project will be complemented by our involvement in an Economic and Social Impact Study of Public Art Museums being conducted through a partnership between Melbourne Business School, Deakin University, the Public Galleries Association of Victoria and Arts Victoria. Arts Project Australia was one of four galleries in Victoria invited to participate in the study, the results of which will be published in November 2013.

Through direct consultation this project has enabled Arts Project Australia to describe the value we create and outcomes for our stakeholders and importantly, artists. Throughout this year's Annual Report you will be able to read quotes. which provide insights to the heart and soul of Arts Project, and the important role we play in the lives of members of our community.

Executive Director's Report

Things never seem to slow down at Arts Project Australia, and the past year has been no exception. We continue to strive for excellence in our work, and this is being widely recognised throughout the local and international community.

Highlights for the financial year have included:

- Witning the AbaF City of Melbourne SME Award for our ongoing partnership with Leonard Joel (now in its third year)
- Another successful stand at the 2012 Melbourne Art Fair, engaging with many new collectors, and an 8% increase in artwork sales from the 2010 Fair
- Firmly embedding our new Digital Media program into studio practice, with extraordinary results from participating artists
- Installing a new server and upgrading our IT systems to meet increased demands
- Refreshing our website, adding a blog, and maximising our social media presence
- Holding the successful 'Dining with Art' fundraiser in our gallery in conjunction with the Melbourne Food and Wine Festival, and introducing new supporters to our organisation

We have been actively exploring ways to use our building more sustainably, and the installation of LED lighting in the gallery has seen a significant decrease in energy bills.

Our studio program continues to flourish and adapt to the needs of individuals, and we have seen a growth in external field trips, in addition to in-house specialist workshops and programs. The studio is rarely below 100% capacity – a testament to the extraordinary staff who work side by side with our artists – and a high level of satisfaction has been recorded through our recent social impact study. An ongoing highlight of the year has been the Knowing Me Knowing You project, with 10 Arts Project artists collaborating over a twelve month period with 10 external artists. This journey is being documented and will culminate in the first exhibition for 2014.

Our gallery team also work tirelessly in proparing exhibition programs, both in our gallery and externally, as well as entering artists in prizes and seeking commissions and leasing opportunities. We have a remarkable group of volunteers who give of their time in a variety of ways, and a Board of Management who are generous with their time and expertise.

Thanks to everyone for another exceptional year at Arts Project Australia - and particularly to our talented artists and their families and supporters.

The Drawing Wall Project

Shepparton Art Museum (SAM) regularly commissions artists to produce new and experimental artworks directly onto their Eastbank. Foyer wall. In March 2013, Arts Project artist, Michael Camakaris was invited to be a SAM Drawing Wall artist and he jumped at the opportunity, saying "I'm very excited to be invited to work on a largeart commission. It was great to have the chance to speak to the curator [Elise Routledge] about the project when she visited Arts. Project." Michael was Drawing Wall artist #11 in the series.

Michael spent a week in Shepparton, creating an elaborate artwork across more than 12 metres of white wall at the museum. He applied his experience in drawing and painting to respond to the local iconic Art Cows.

Exhibitions Report

The gallery completed another remarkable year, representing and showcasing the work of over 10 artists through exhibitions as well as stockroom, website and exhibition sales, image licensing, leasing and loan programs. We curated and coordinated exhibitions in our internal program as well as through our extensive external exhibitions program in Melbourne, nationally and internationally. The work presented included painting, drawing, printmaking, 3D sculpture, ceramics, puppetry, animation and digital art,

Highlights of our internal program included the staging of a major solo exhibition of work by Valerio Ciccone titled Peripheral Observer, with a full-colour catalogue sponsored by Leonard Joel Auctions; solo exhibitions by artists Anne Lynch and Kelvin Heffernar; and two group exhibitions of Arts Project and external contemporary artists' work as part of our External Curator Program, curated by Mark Feary (Artspace, Sydney) and Geotf Newton (Neon Parc, Melbourne). Our external program included participating in exhibitions in major external galleries and institutions such as at Melbourne Art Fair (August 2012). The Machine, curated by Debbie Pryor, Craft, Melbourne (January 2013). Outsidensm, curated by Alex Baket, Fleisher Oliman Gallery, USA (March 2013), and Alan Constable/Ten Cameras, curated by Ricky Swallow, South Willard, USA (May 2013).

Additionally, we submitted successful entries in noteworthy art prizes and award exhibitions, including the 2012 Mornington Peninsula National Works on Paper Prize (Adrian Lazzaro); 2012 NAVA - Credit Suisse Art Award (Patrick Francis); and 2012 Paul Guest Art Prize (Steven Ajzenberg).

Other highlights included hosting the Dining with Art fundraising dinner in the Arts Project Australia gallery in collaboration with over 10 fabulous local supporters as part of the Melbourne Food and Wine Festival Fringe Events Program, our Open Stockroom Series on the first

We have continued to sell and lease artwork to corporate, private and public agencies, providing great exposure for our artists and Arts Project in the wider community. In 2013, we were fortunate to begin working with staff from Melbourne City Mission, who selected a significant number of artworks for lease in their offices and common areas in South Melbourne. We also consigned artworks to Fleisher Oliman Gallery, Philadelphia, USA; Third Drawer Down, Fitzroy; Modern Times, Collingwood; and Frangue, Prahran.

The success of the gallery is achieved through the wonderful work by our artists, and the assistance of our committed volunteers and student placements, each providing incredible support to the staff and artists at Arts Project Australia. We look forward to building on our national and international successes in 2013/14 as we prepare for our 40th Anniversary.

LATEASIS OF PREPARATION

Kelvin Heffernan 1958 - 2013

Long-time studio artist Kelvin John Helfernan passed away peacefully on Friday 17th May 2013 surrounded, as he wished, by family and friends after a short battle with cancer.

Jale

Commencing at Arts Project Australia in 1991, Kelvin's artwork remained strong and consistent over his career. He was a dedicated artist who overcame his physical difficulties to produce works of great confidence and intent.

Equally at home working in paint, pastel, pencil, ink or ceramics. Kelvin created art inspired by both imagination and life. Often the subjects or themes would be violent, involving guns, daggers, sharing dogs or dragons, but they could just as equally be tender, especially in his portrayals of people he cared for.

in Kelvin's work the warrior figure appears again and again, not so much as the appressor, but the defender, fighting life's baltles on a singular and individual quest. There is also a sense of the outsider in these depictions' perhaps this is the Figure of the artist, an existential portrait of inner and outer lives. For Kelvin, in many ways life was a battle, but he took its challenges with resilience and a sense of the ability to overcome. Nowhere is this more evident than in his art.

Within a year of starting in the studio, Kelvin's work was shown as part of a major Arts Project. Australia exhibition Inside Out/Outside In. at the National Gallery of Victoria. During his career Kelvin's work was included in more than fifty exhibitions, both in Australia and overseas. He has been represented by Arts Project Australia at every Melbourne Art Fair since 1996, and shown in major Australian commercial galleries-including Australian Galleries (Sydney and Melbourne), Greenaway Art Gallery (Adelaide), the Chapman Gallery (Canberra): Through an association with the Australian Print Workshop his work is held in the collection of the National Gallery of Australia. He is also represented in the STOARC Collection. of Outsider Art in Sydney.

Through his work Kelvin was able to express a personal realm in powerful visual imagery. What typifies his work is its fervent, controlled energy; his use of paint unmistakeable in its physicality. Kelvin's dedication and productivity have left us a rich and enduring legacy. Anyone who knew Kelvin could not help connecting with his engaging presence. and admining his passionate approach to art-making. He will be greatly missed as part of the Arts Project community:

We were honoured to host Kelvin's memorial service in the Arts Project Australia gallery.
