ARTS PROJECT AUSTRALIA

is pleased to invite you to the opening of

Video Doctor

Working in collaboration with Arts Project Australia and Electronic Arts Intermix New York, Video Doctor brings together works by international and Australian artists. The title of the exhibition takes its cue from early VHS or Beta Max head cleaning tapes. Just as the 'doctor' would revive the clarity of the picture, the idea of revival is a key theme shared by the artists invited to be part of the project. Though their processes and inspiration may differ markedly in execution and complexity, each is, in their own way, concerned with remixing the images and artifacts of popular culture, breathing new life into old.
